With three years of web developing and eight years of corporate management under my belt, I bring a fresh and invaluable viewpoint to every project. My design-savvy eyes and comprehensive knowledge of each tool's nitty-gritty make me a crucial addition to any team. I'm a forever student, always seeking growth in both my technical and personal skills, and I never back down from a challenge. My core principles revolve around reliability, positivity, enjoying what I do, and keeping a healthy work-life balance. Whether it's a daunting project or a mission impossible, I am always up for the task and devoted to getting it done right.
